NORFOLK DAY BOAT OFF.: <EM><SPAN CLASS="HIT">WASHINGTON</SPAN></EM>
The Washington Post (1877-1922); Jul 24, 1919; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The Washington Post
pg. 7

NORFOLK DAY BOAT OFF.

Washington Southern Co. to Have Finer Craft in Two Weeks.

The Washington Southern Navigation Company has suspended for two weeks its day steamer service between Washington, Norfolk and intermediate points. Recently the Lord Baltimore boat was withdrawn, and yesterday the Penn was also declared out of service for its three trips a week.

The company said the boats were not stanch enough to stand the strain of heavy traffic, and that efforts are being made to put another boat in operation in about a fortnight.

DR. PACE TO HELP K. OF C.

Catholic University Expert Plans Lodge School for 600,000.

The Rev. Dr. Edward A. Pace, director of studies at the Catholic University of America, has joined the Knights of Columbus force of educational experts, who will prepare night school courses for the 600,000 members, about 50,000 of whom saw service in the war, and all other men who desire to take advantage of them.

These educators will meet in New York Sunday and draw up a program for adoption at the peace convention of the Knights of Columbus in Buffalo.

BACK FROM CRUISE SOUTH.

Battleship Squadron to Finish Summer Duty Near New York.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 23.—Naval Academy officials have received word that the battleship squadron which has carried most midshipmen on their summer cruise, will arrive at New York tomorrow. The ships have touched at Guantanamo, Cuba, and Panama and have now reached the end of their cruise in southern waters.

The remainder of the cruise, which will last until about September 1, will be in waters adjacent to New York and New England.

NEWPORT WOMEN SEE BOUT.

Newport, R. I., July 23.—Joe Benjamin, lightweight champion of California, stopped Al Turner in the fourth round of their bout here today. Many women members of the cottage colony were among the spectators in the arena.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.